Note: Things may be added or changed on the Assignment Sheet. You can have unannounced chapter quizzes at any time! However, unless I specifically tell you to make a change, all due dates listed here stand. How are you managing your time for class? Are you reading some each night and completing parts of assignment? Are you studying back over class notes? Remember! Even when homework is not officially listed you could be organizing your time so you do not have too much in one night. ☺ You know better than I do if you have extracurricular responsibilities, religious observances, etc. You can read ahead! – Get into those good time management habits now!
